

Radio REC (FRA)_Alain Dupeux_portrayal_2020_Jan_286_ENG:

With this very beautiful association of this duo Kristjan Randalu and Dave Liebman who finds points in common with this relationship of two great soloists we generally discover a development of the technique and the improvisation of each musician by personal universes including culmination of this concept allows to reveal the intimacies the emotions which offers the accessibility to simple and original orchestrations through a research a depth. In this the faces and the visions translate an interior resonance which widens this artistic collaboration by mixtures resulting from several traditional modern and classic orientations. It allows its different approaches whose richness of its diversity of its chords of its bright arrangements embellishes a relationship in improvisation and balance which brings a brilliant modernity thanks to this inventive structure which finds improbable fusions around this sensitivity which causes a nice surprise with its flexible and melodious orchestrations. It confirms the intelligent musical creativity with this contemporary cohesion which brings to its multiple combinations which liberates its melodious rhythms.